DOMa Summer School | Open Call for architectural students

4-17 July, Athens&nbsp;

DOMa Summer School is a new international architectural workshop, based in Athens. The locus of Classical culture, and a vibrant capital of the Mediterranean -between Cairo, Istanbul, and Rome- Athens challenges us to imagine a different future for the contemporary metropolis. By involving acclaimed academics and professionals globally, while triggering the debate locally, DSS brings the world to Athens and Athens to the world.

Following the direction of DOMa magazine, which invites established architects and emerging talent to communicate their working process through unpredictable presentations, DSS aims to enrich architectural education and discourse.

DOMa Summer School will take place in Athens, July 4-17, and is aimed at current and prospective architectural students from all over the world.

Workshop leaders: MAIO.

Lectures by Elia Zenghelis, Aristides Antonas, Point Supreme, Area Architecture Research Athens, Ilias Papageorgiou (Pila), Fabiano Micocci and Lydia Xynogala.

The tuition fee per participant is €700.

Should you be also interested in accommodation, the total cost (tuition fee & accommodation expenses) is €1,100

Express your interest by completing this form and you will be notified about the application process (portfolio is mandatory).
