About the Festival

The Voices Festival is an itinerant initiative designed to connect diverse European communities while promoting media literacy and press freedom. Following its first edition in Florence in 2024, which gathered over 1,300 participants, the festival now heads to Zagreb for three days of discussions, interactive workshops, exhibitions, and networking opportunities.

The event tackles pressing issues in today's media landscape, including:

- Artificial intelligence and journalism
- Disinformation and elections' integrity
- Journalistic safety and press freedom
- Challenges in media economic models

- Media literacy and digital well-being

By bringing together experts and the public, Voices fosters meaningful conversations on the power of journalism, the responsibility of the media, and the importance of critical thinking in an age of misinformation.

Why "Voices"?

A voice represents an opinion, participation, and representation. Voices Festival embraces pluralism, offering multiple perspectives on the role of journalism in our societies. It is a collective effort—created by and for those who believe in the power of informed storytelling.
