Forecast Mentorships 2025–26: Empowering Visionary Creators

CREATIVESUNITE

Co-funded by the European Union

Forecast invites visionaries from any discipline to apply for its 2025–26 mentorship program, offering support from industry-leading mentors to turn bold ideas into reality. This two-phase program culminates in public presentations at Radialsystem in Berlin.

Deadline for applications: February 10, 2025, 11:59 PM CET

Program Timeline: February 2025–March 2026
Organizer: Forecast a project by Skills e.V.
Who is it for: Artists, creatives, and innovators from all disciplines seeking mentorship for project development

Apply here.

About the Program

Forecast Mentorships foster transdisciplinary collaboration by pairing innovative individuals with mentors renowned in their fields. Applicants are encouraged to submit ideas that showcase originality, clarity, and a well-defined vision. Each mentorship is an opportunity for tailored guidance, professional growth, and deep creative exchanges, rather than a grant-focused initiative.

The program consists of two phases:

- Phase 1: Selected nominees participate in workshops and presentations at the Forecast Forum in Berlin.
- Phase 2: Mentees selected from the Forum engage in one-on-one mentorships, culminating in public showcases at the Forecast Festival in Berlin.

How to Apply

Applications must be submitted online and include:

- A clear project description
- Expectations from the mentorship
- Format and content outline for participation in the Forecast Forum and Festival
- Overview of key production materials and steps

Important Information

Travel and Accommodation: Covered for the Forum, work-stay, and Festival.
Funding: Artist fees and production budgets provided at each phase.
