ICOM Follow-up report: Museums, Museum professionals and COVID-19

To gather further information and additional data on how the ongoing COVID-19 outbreak is impacting and will affect the museum sector in the short and long term, ICOM launched a second global report .

This report analyses almost 900 responses from museums and museum professionals across five continents, which were collected between 7 September and 18 October, 2020 from a survey launched by ICOM. It is important to underline that, shortly after the closure of the survey, Europe began to experience a second wave of generalised lockdowns.
