Investing in Europe's next generation by investing in culture

As the EU has started discussing the proposed recovery plan, 94 organisations from across Europe's cultural and creative sectors are uniting their voices to alert EU leaders: the sector needs strong and systemic support measures to recover from this crisis.

As the European economy is slowly restarting, it is far from business as usual. Cultural actors are gradually resuming their activities, but all have to implement strict safety rules which means they won't be operating at full capacity for the foreseeable future and are therefore facing challenging economic decisions. From individual creators and creative workers all the way to big production and media companies, the whole value chain is impacted. Read the full letter here.
