About the Summit

The Museums & Public Programs Summit will explore how museums can create impactful public programming that resonates with diverse audiences. Through real-world examples and practical insights, this event will inspire professionals to design programs that educate, entertain, and build stronger community ties.

Key topics include:

- Engaging diverse audiences through innovative programming
- Incorporating technology to enhance visitor experiences
- Co-creating meaningful programs with community partners
- Evaluating the success and impact of public programs
- Addressing inclusivity and accessibility challenges in program design
- Aligning public programming with institutional missions

Call for Speakers

MuseumNext seeks dynamic 20-minute pre-recorded presentations from museum professionals, educators, and cultural leaders worldwide.
