Our Picks | Three events to attend this May

If you don't know the deal about this month's events, we got your back. We picked three events across Europe to attend in May.

Creatives Unite keeps an eye on events, conferences and trainings happening across Europe that connect and develop the Cultural and Creative Sector. This month we picked three events to attend related to cultural heritage, artists with disabilities and trust. The topics are pushing the limits into the modern perception of concepts like self awareness, inclusiveness and art in relation to the future. It's not too late to register!

ELIA | Academy 2023 Exploring Situatedness

ELIA is inviting arts educators, students, practitioners and professionals to explore the cultural heritage of Évora in Portugal. Situatedness is a concept of being existent in the current moment and an opportunity to experience the landscape as education. The participants will reflect on the journey of art from the past until now and the way of defining its value for the future. The event will promote the values of the future in artistic, cultural and social contexts through a mutual understanding of how everyone views the world differently based on their past experiences.

When? 10/05/2023 - 12/05/2023

Europe Beyond Access | Disability and Transforming the Cultural Ecosystem Event

Europe Beyond Access is Europe's largest arts and disability programme focusing on the needs and opportunities provided for artists with disabilities. This year their final symposium will discuss the recent advances made on a national and European basis and how all cultural professionals, arts organisations, national institutions, and cultural policymakers can transform the cultural ecosystem in the future. Mariya Gabriel, European Commissioner for Innovation, Research, Culture, Education and Youth will also take part in the discussion and give her own input on the matters.
