RESEO | Conference 2023 Early Bird Registration

RESEO is organising their 2023 conference under the theme Potential Unlocked: Inclusive and Holistic Talent Development in the 21st Century.

Cultural organisations, artists and educators all play a role in nurturing new generations of young talent. But what do pathways into artistic professions look like in 2023, and how do they compare with more traditional training? What are the intersections between social inclusion, “artivism” and the quest for artistic excellence? How can culture professionals collaborate, within and beyond the sector, to ensure access to talent development for all young people?

The RESEO Conference 2023 “Potential Unlocked” will draw upon practice, expertise and resources from across Europe to identify the ways we can support young people in reaching their potential as artistic adults. Inspired by Ben Sandbrook’s concept of holistic “progression environments”, you will explore contemporary learning pathways from a young person’s perspective, address the impact of fast-evolving digital technologies, and reflect on how to connect learning programmes with social engagement. Take a look at what to expect from the programme.

RESEO is looking forward to welcoming delegates to an immersive, participatory event exploring pathways into the arts from the perspective of young people. Become part of a transformative learning experience alongside arts professionals from across Europe. Delegates will also have the opportunity to attend events at Glyndebourne.

Event: 16-18 November 2023
