Save your place for Creative Skills Week 2024

CREATIVESUNITE

Co-funded by the European Union

Creative Skills Week 2024 is back to bring together cultural and creative professionals from all over Europe to discuss the future of the sector.

The European Commission recently recognised the cultural and creative industries (CCI) as one of Europe's leading industrial sectors. This presents an opportunity to come together, think about the future of our sector, and address skills needs and reskilling across the whole creative ecosystem.

The second edition of CREATIVE SKILLS WEEK has been launched. Powered by the SACCORD project, in association with the Blueprint Project, CYANOTYPES, invites you to actively participate in shaping and steering discussion around skills, addressing gaps, opportunities for upskilling, and to start shaping strategic skills for future creatives.

Join an active community who believes in the power of creativity, skilling and learning from 16 – 20 September 2024 (in person and online). The LIVE programme will take place in Amsterdam on 18 & 19 September, hosted by the Conservatorium van Amsterdam, Amsterdam University of Arts.

Host your own event during Creative Skills Week 2024

Call for CSW2024 Satellite Events

Projects, European networks, cultural organisations, start-up powerhouses, arts and cultural sector professionals, creatives, cultural workers, artists, designers, educators, architects, students, leaders, policymakers, and training providers are all invited to host events and/or skills-related activities as part of the Creative Skills Week 2024 Satellite Programme.

Host your own CSW Satellite event online or in Amsterdam, on 16, 17 and 20 September 2024 and it will be promoted to the creative skills community at large as part of CSW2024.
