The future of Collaborative Workspaces: a multi-scalar and interdisciplinary approach. 23-24 January 2023 at Romantso, Athens.

Introduction to Collaborative Workspaces

This conference is oriented towards understanding collaborative workspaces (CWS) and exploring their current and future relationship with global trends, regional development, communities and individuals from the perspective of various disciplines. The purpose is to focus on the phenomenon of CWS (i.e. coworking spaces, makerspaces, fablabs, creative and innovation hubs etc.) located either in urban centres or in peripheral and remote areas. Research on this topic has received increased attention in recent years from numerous disciplines such as urban and regional planning, geography, business and management, sociology, architecture, design and economics, and we believe this trend will further proliferate in the coming years.
